Lactation Care for Every Body

Broadening Perspectives, Individualizing Care

MAY 3-5, 2027 • HILTON HEAD, SC

ABOUT US

Lactivents is an IBCLC-led company dedicated to creating high-quality, thoughtfully curated lactation and perinatal education experiences that bring together diverse voices, perspectives, and expertise. Through evidence-based education and opportunities for meaningful connection, we aim to empower lactation and perinatal professionals to better support the families they serve.

We believe professional development should be about more than continuing education credits. Our events blend engaging educational experiences with meaningful networking and opportunities to recharge, all in beautiful and inspiring destinations. From Cancun, Mexico to New York's Catskills Mountains, we've brought together professionals who share a commitment to advancing perinatal care. We are excited to continue that tradition in Hilton Head Island, creating another opportunity for this community to learn, connect, and return to their work renewed and inspired.
